One Hundred Nineteenth Commencement
May Sixteenth, Nineteen Hundred Eighty
Eight-Thirty Friday Morning
The National Anthem

O, say! Can you see, by the dawn’s early light,
What so proudly we hailed at the twilight’s last gleaming,
Whose broad stripes and bright stars, thro’ the perilous fight,
O’er the ramparts we watched were so gallantly streaming?
And the rockets red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof thro’ the night that our flag was still there.
O, say, does that Star Spangled Banner yet wave,
O’er the land of the free and the home of the brave.

The Alma Mater

1
Dear Alma Mater,
Thy name is sweet to me.
Our hearts are all for thee,
Fair Washington.
Thy halls shall honored be
Throughout this great country
For all eternity,
Our Washington.

2
Those days of youth which
All of us spent with thee
Form a dear history,
Fair Washington.
Could they renewed be,
We’d live our days with thee
For all eternity,
Our Washington
A Note on the Commencement Ceremony

Whether Paris or Bologna is the first university will probably never be known with certainty. Both date to about 1100, and within a century produced different forms of corporate organization. What we can say, however, is that Washington University and other American universities, public and private, follow the pattern developed at the University of Paris after a long period of internal discussion among the authorities there.

Paris early attracted thousands of young men in their teens eager for education, but eager too for a good time, most of them being away from home for the first time. Their discipline, and indeed their entire education, fell under the jurisdiction of the Bishop of Paris who, like every other bishop, was responsible for local educational matters. In his attempt to perform his office, the Bishop, therefore, attempted to regulate student conduct and claimed supervision of curriculum and degree-granting as well. Here he ran into trouble from the teachers attached to the cathedral school and also to the various monasteries scattered throughout what was becoming the student (or Latin) quarter. The teachers, like other experts, or masters, of the day, claimed to be the proper judges of the qualifications of their students. They demanded the right to approve or disapprove of a student's work, and the right to grant the degree—usually the right to teach anywhere in western Europe.

The modern commencement ceremony represents a compromise which was reached between the Bishop who was attempting to retain his traditional rights and honors, and the teaching masters who were demanding normal rights of guild control. We cannot say precisely how the agreement was reached, but by 1200 the masters were judging the merits of the student and then recommending him to the Bishop for the degree. The ceremony you will witness this morning is the successor, some 750 years later, to the medieval compromise. The Faculty sits on the platform in its ancient role as teacher and examiner. Its leaders, the Deans, present qualified candidates to the Board whose members, sitting with its executive officer, the Chancellor, award the degree. Today the Chancellor and Board act, as did the medieval Bishop, as the final voice in local educational matters, admitting the new bachelors to the privileges of their new "estate" or condition.
An Historic Note on Brookings Hall

Along with several other buildings on campus, Brookings Hall has recently been listed with the National Registry of Historic Places. Formerly known as University Hall, and leased from the University for use as the Administration Building of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, its name was changed to Brookings Hall on June 28, 1928, when Mr. Brookings became President Emeritus of the Board of Directors. The name was officially changed again on April 12, 1929 to Robert S. Brookings Hall. The cornerstone was laid on November 3, 1900.

A Note on Academic Dress

The academic dress worn by Faculty and candidates indicates the degree held, the subject in which it is held, and the institution granting it. Gowns are of three kinds: the Bachelor's, with full, pointed sleeves; hanging open; the Master's, with flowing sleeves which hang below the opening at the wrist; the Doctor's, with very full sleeves gathered at the wrist. The gowns are black, although occasionally trimmed with colored velvet; the hoods, on the other hand, are of many colors. The color of the lining of the hood indicates the institution granting the degree: e.g., the hood of Washington University is lined with red and green. The color of the tassel on the cap and of the velvet edging of the hood, carried forward around the throat, indicates the faculty or major department:

- White—Arts, Letters, Humanities
- Orange—Engineering
- Lilac—Dentistry
- Drab—Business
- Dark Blue—Philosophy
- Brown—Fine Arts, Architecture, Interior Design
- Golden Yellow—Science
- Purple—Law
- Green—Medicine
- Pink—Music
- Citron—Social Work
- Light Blue—Education

Gold tassels and black tassels, when worn, indicate degree rather than faculty or major department. Thus gold indicates the Ph.D. degree and black indicates the Master's degree.

Academic dress markedly different from the above description indicates a degree from a foreign university.

HONORARY DEGREES

DOCTOR OF HUMANITIES

LOUIS CLARK BROCK, athlete and executive, achieved international fame as a major league "All-Star-Superstar" baseball player. Beginning his major league career with the Chicago Cubs in 1961, he joined the St. Louis Cardinals three years later and was an outstanding player for that team for fourteen seasons. The first active player to have an award named after him (the "Lou Brock Award for Stolen Bases"), he stole a record-breaking 938 bases—the last one in the final week of play in September 1979. A month earlier, in August 1979, he had become the fourteenth major league player to get three thousand hits. The only player in the major leagues to have accomplished this dual feat, he holds many other records for outstanding performance. Honored at "Lou Brock Day" in St. Louis on September 9, 1979, he subsequently was invited to the White House and to a benefit dinner where the Lou Brock Scholarship Fund was established. Now retired as a player, he is involved in business and civic affairs. He is the recipient of the Roberto Clemente Baseball Award ("given to the player who best exemplifies the spirit of baseball both on and off the field"), the City of Hope Award, the St. Louis Award, and numerous other awards. Lou Brock majored in mathematics for three years at Southern University, where he was named to the All SWAC (Southwestern Athletic Conference) Baseball Team in 1959 and 1960. He was also chosen a member of the United States Pan American team in 1959, the highest honor that can be accorded a collegiate baseball player.

DIETRICH GERHARD, historian and educator, is William Eliot Smith Professor Emeritus of History at Washington University, where he has been a member of the faculty since 1936. While teaching here, he also was affiliated part-time with various German institutions. He has served as professor for American studies and director of the Amerika Institut, University of Cologne, 1955 to 1961, where he is now professor emeritus; president, Deutsche Gesellschaft fuer American Studies; member, Council of the European Association for American Studies; director, modern history section, Max-Planck-Institut fuer Geschichte, Goettingen; and he is a member of the Max-Planck-Gesellschaft and the Goettingen Academy of Science. Professor Gerhard studied in Berlin, where he was born, and at Heidelberg. He earned the Doctor of Philosophy degree from the University of Berlin in 1923. In this country he has also taught at Harvard and Cornell universities, and he was Neilson professor at Smith College from 1967 to 1968. Professor Gerhard has been a Rockefeller Fellow, a Guggenheim Fellow and a Fellow of the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton, New Jersey. He is the author of numerous scholarly works. His most recent publication is an autobiographical article, "From European to American History: A Comparative View," which appeared in the British Journal of American Studies this year.
DOCTOR OF LAWS

William Edward Simon, financier and former Presidential advisor, is senior consultant, Blyth Eastman Dillon & Company, Incorporated. He is also consultant and chairman of the advisory committee of Brazilinvest. Mr. Simon began his Wall Street career as a management trainee at Union Securities in 1952, joined Weeden and Company as vice-president five years later, and in 1964 became a senior partner and a member of the executive committee of Salomon Brothers in New York City. In 1973, he moved to Washington, D.C., to focus all of his efforts on public service. He was named Deputy Secretary of the Treasury and assumed an additional position as this nation’s first “energy czar.” On May 4, 1974, President Richard M. Nixon appointed him the sixty-third Secretary of the Treasury, a post he continued to hold when Gerald R. Ford became the chief executive of the United States. Leaving the Cabinet in 1977, Mr. Simon wrote of his governmental experiences in a candid book, A Time For Truth, published the following year. He is presently a member of the boards of directors of six firms. His avocational interests are eclectic, ranging from services as President of the John M. Olin Foundation to membership on the board of directors of the Damon Runyon-Walter Winchell Cancer Fund. Mr. Simon earned the Bachelor of Arts degree from Lafayette College, which he serves as a trustee, chairman of the financial policy committee, and member of the executive committee.

DOCTOR OF LETTERS

Siegfried Unseld, German publisher, editor, writer and scholar, heads the distinguished firms of Suhrkamp Verlag, established by the late Peter Suhrkamp, and Insel Verlag. These two houses in Frankfurt have published an outstanding collection of contemporary and classical German literature, and also skillful translations of such authors as Samuel Beckett, T. S. Eliot, James Joyce and Marcel Proust. As a young man, Dr. Unseld was singled out by Henry Kissinger, who invited him to participate in the famous “International Seminar” at Harvard University in 1955. Siegfried Unseld has been credited with nurturing the so-called “Suhrkamp culture” which dominates much of Germany’s literary and intellectual life. Of its influence, the well-known writer George Steiner has observed: “The publishing firm of Suhrkamp has created a modern philosophic canon . . . and has filled German bookshelves with the presence of that German-Jewish intellectual and nervous genius which Nazism sought to obliterate.” Dr. Unseld, an ardent admirer of Hermann Hesse, has written two books on the famous author, and has edited the Correspondence between Hesse and Suhrkamp. He has written and edited numerous other works. An English translation of his book The Author and His Publisher is just off the press. He earned the doctorate at the University of Tübingen in 1951.
DOCTOR OF SCIENCE

PHILIP HANDLER, scientist, educator and government savant, has been president of the National Academy of Sciences since 1969. He is James B. Duke Professor of Biochemistry at Duke University School of Medicine (on leave), and he is also Distinguished Professor of Medical Science at George Washington University. Dr. Handler’s career has been characterized by dedicated public service. He is internationally recognized for his many contributions to government and higher education. He has been advisor to various bodies within the National Institutes of Health and he has also been a leader of important components of the National Science Foundation. Dr. Handler has served on the President’s Commission on Heart Disease, Cancer and Stroke, and on the President’s Science Advisory Committee. The recipient of numerous awards and honors, he has been invited to lecture before some of the world’s most prestigious learned societies and educational institutions. He is a prolific writer of papers on biochemistry and diverse speeches, and he is the coauthor of a textbook, Principles of Biochemistry, and editor of Biology and the Future of Man and The Life Sciences, a report published by the Committee on the Life Sciences, National Academy of Sciences. He earned the Bachelor of Science degree from the College of City of New York in 1936, the Doctor of Philosophy degree from the University of Illinois in 1939, and he has received twenty-six honorary degrees.

MILDRED TROTTER, scientist and educator, is professor emeritus and lecturer in the department of anatomy at the Washington University School of Medicine, with which she has been associated for sixty years. She taught anatomy to nearly four thousand students, and directed the course herself from 1941 to 1967. Two Nobel Laureates, the late Earl W. Sutherland, M.D., and Daniel Nathans, M.D., were in her classes. Dr. Trotter is also a noted physical anthropologist, who held a National Research Council Fellowship in that specialty at the University of Oxford from 1925 to 1926. Highlights of her career include her appointment as a visiting professor of anatomy, Makerere University College, Kampala, Uganda, in 1963, and selection in 1956 as the first woman Viking Fund Medalist in Physical Anthropology. She served as president from 1955 to 1957 of the American Association of Physical Anthropologists, which she helped found in 1930. At a symposium on bone biology in her honor presented at this group’s forty-fifth annual meeting in 1976, Stanley M. Garn, professor of nutrition, School of Public Health, University of Michigan, said “She has been responsible for the largest single increase in our knowledge of bone, both as a tissue and as the primary locus of the mineral mass of the human body.” Dr. Trotter earned the Bachelor of Arts degree from Mount Holyoke College in 1920, which also awarded her the honorary Doctor of Science degree in 1960. She earned both the Master of Science and the Doctor of Philosophy degrees from Washington University.

PINDAROS ROY VAGELOS, a scientist and administrator, has been president of Merck Sharp & Dohme Research Laboratories, a division of Merck & Company, Incorporated, since June 1976. An authority on lipids, one of the principal structural materials of living cells, and on enzymes, proteins which act as organic catalysts, he received the 1967 Enzyme Chemistry Award of the American Chemical Society. Dr. Vagelos earned the Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Pennsylvania in 1950, and received the medical degree from Columbia University in 1954. He held a number of positions in cellular physiology and biochemistry at the National Heart Institute from 1956 to 1966, when he became chairman of the department of biological chemistry at the Washington University School of Medicine. He assumed the broader additional responsibilities of director of the University’s division of biology and biomedical sciences in 1973. Dr. Vagelos joined the firm with which he is now associated in June 1975. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa national honor society and Alpha Omega Alpha medical honor society. Dr. Vagelos was elected to the American Academy of Arts and Sciences and the National Academy of Sciences in 1972, and to the latter group’s Institute of Medicine in 1974. He is a member of the boards of trustees of the Rockefeller University, the Foundation of Microbiology and the Danforth Foundation.
