One Hundred Twenty-Fourth Commencement
May Seventeenth
Nineteen Hundred Eighty-Five
Eight-Thirty Friday Morning
A Brief History of Washington University

Founded in 1853, the University was located in downtown St. Louis for its first fifty years. Ground for a new site on the edge of the city was purchased in 1894 and in 1900 construction was begun on the first five buildings of a plan based upon the medieval courtyards of Oxford and Cambridge Colleges.

These first ivy covered Gothic buildings with their red granite walls, arches and gargoyles formed the quadrangle. Upon completion, these original buildings were leased to the 1904 World's Fair. The lease money made it possible to begin construction of additional buildings and all were used for the Fair before the University moved in. The athletic stadium, Francis Field, was built to accommodate the 1904 Olympic games, presented in conjunction with the Fair.

Over the years, the original “Academic Gothic” architecture has been succeeded by a variety of eclectic styles, but certain key principles of the original plan were retained. Plazas and courtyards still reflect the original theme.

A Note on the Commencement Ceremony

Washington University and other American universities, public and private, follow the pattern of degree granting developed at the University of Paris, which was founded about 1100.

In the early days of the University of Paris the discipline of the students, and indeed their entire education fell under the jurisdiction of the Bishop of Paris who was responsible for local educational matters. In an attempt to perform his office, the Bishop claimed supervision of curriculum and degree-granting. Here he ran into trouble from the teachers who felt they were the proper judges of the qualifications of their students. They demanded the right to grant the degree.

The modern commencement ceremony represents a compromise between the Bishop and the teaching masters. By 1200 the masters were judging the merits of the student and then recommending him to the Bishop who conferred the degree. The ceremony you will witness this morning is the successor to this medieval compromise. The Faculty sits on the platform in its role as teacher and examiner. Its leaders, the Deans, present the qualified candidates to the Chancellor, acting as executive officer of the Board. Today the Chancellor and the Board act, as did the medieval Bishop when, acting together, they grant accreditation upon the student’s completion of the Faculty’s requirements.
A Note on Academic Dress

The academic dress worn by Faculty and candidates indicates the degree held, the subject in which it is held, and the institution granting it. Gowns are of three kinds: the Bachelor’s with full, pointed sleeves, hanging open; the Master’s with flowing sleeves which hang below the opening at the wrist; the Doctor’s with very full sleeves gathered at the wrist. The gowns are black, although occasionally trimmed with colored velvet; the hoods, on the other hand, are of many colors. The color of the lining of the hood indicates the institution granting the degree: e.g., the hood of Washington University is lined with red and green. The color of the tassel on the cap and of the velvet edging of the hood, carried forward around the throat, indicates the division of the university:

- White—Arts, Letters, Humanities
- Orange—Engineering
- Lilac—Dentistry
- Silver-Beige—Business
- Dark Blue—Philosophy
- Blue-Violet—Architecture
- Brown—Fine Arts
- Golden Yellow—Science
- Purple—Law
- Green—Medicine
- Citron—Social Work

Gold tassels and black tassels, when worn, indicate degree rather than faculty or major department. Thus gold indicates the Ph.D. degree and black indicates the Master’s degree.

Academic dress markedly different from the above description indicates a degree from a foreign university.

Banners

In addition to the coloring present in the academic dress, the division is also represented on the University’s Commencement banners. These banners are carried by a student marshal at the head of the procession for their division. You will note that the side sections of the banners are red and green, the University’s colors, and that the center section, which bears the seal of the University, is the color of the academic division.

HONORARY DEGREES

DOCTOR OF HUMANITIES

HERVÉ DUFRESNE

Hervé Dufresne, president and director general of Motorola Electronique Automobile since 1972, has distinguished himself as a philanthropist of international scope. He was one of the co-founders in 1947 of the Centre d'Échanges Internationaux (CEI), whose mission was to bring together the youth of France and Germany to help create a more stable Europe. Since 1947, the CEI has expanded its horizons to include the other countries of Europe, England and - through Washington University - the United States. WU's Department of Romance Languages and Literatures annually has been given permission to use the Château de la Hèrcerie as the site for its Summer Language Institute in France. The Château is one of seven centers now operated by the CEI. Dufresne's cooperation with the University has resulted in the new Internship Program in European Business for American Students, which will enable WU students to gain first-hand work experience with businesses in Europe. Dufresne, a native of Paris, received his degrees from the Facultés de Lettres et de Droit and from the Ecole libre des Sciences Politiques. He was active in the Resistance as a young man, especially from 1943 to 1945. A leader in the European business community for the past 30 years, he was named a board member of the Banque de France in 1967 and Motorola's Country Manager for France in 1979. He has served since 1970 as the president of the Foundation Solacroup-Hébert, the Association des Amis de Notre-Dame-du-Roc and of the Groupe des Organismes de Prévoyance et de Retraite de la Construction Electrique et Electronique. He serves on the board of the Université Européenne des Affaires and on a number of boards of hospitals and economic foundations. Among the many honors he has received in his life, he says the most noteworthy to date was bestowed on him several years ago when he was named by the Pope as a Chevalier of the Order of the Holy Sepulchre of Jerusalem.

A. LEON HIGGINBOTHAM, JR.

The Honorable A. Leon Higginbotham Jr.'s volume, In the Matter of Color: Race and the American Legal Process, "is simply the most outstanding scholarly work on the history of race in American law during the colonial period." So states Lucius J. Barker, Washington University's Edna E. Gellhorn University Professor of Public Affairs and professor of political science. In 1977, President Jimmy Carter appointed Higginbotham Circuit Judge, U.S. Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit. He also is an adjunct professor of sociology in the University of Pennsylvania's Wharton Graduate School and lecturer-in-law in the Law School. In 1962, he became a partner in the law firm of Norris, Green, Harris & Higginbotham in Philadelphia. That same year, President John F. Kennedy appointed the attorney to a seven-year term as a commissioner for the Federal Trade Commission. Two years later, the U.S. Chamber of Commerce named the 38-year-old Higginbotham "One of the Ten Most Outstanding Young Men in America." Kennedy also had held that honor. In January 1964, when Higginbotham was sworn in as U.S. District Judge, Eastern District of Pennsylvania, he was the youngest person to have been appointed a federal district judge within the last 30 years. A visiting lecturer in the 1970s at the University of Hawaii, Yale University, and the University of Michigan, he holds more than 30 honorary degrees. He has been on the board of trustees or a member of more than 30 national organizations, and was appointed vice-chairman of the National Commission on the Cause and Prevention of Violence by President Lyndon B. Johnson. Published in 1978, his book has merited several national awards, including the American Bar Association's Silver Gavel Award. He is writing two more books in the Race and the American Legal Process series.
In the summer of 1982, Philip Habib came out of retirement to spend 11 weeks in the Middle East to negotiate a cease-fire between Israel and the Palestine Liberation Organization in Lebanon. As a result of that diplomatic coup, Senator Charles Percy (R-Ill.), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, nominated Habib for the Nobel Peace Prize.

A Lebanese-American from a Jewish Brooklyn neighborhood, Habib seems to have been born for diplomacy. After earning his bachelor's degree in 1942 from the University of Idaho, he served four years in the U.S. Army. In 1946, he began doctoral studies in economics at the University of California at Berkeley. By the time he had earned his Ph.D. in 1952, he already had started his career in the foreign service. Following his first assignment in the U.S. Embassy in Canada from 1949 to 1951, he moved on to New Zealand; Washington, D.C.; Trinidad; and South Korea. When the war in Vietnam began to escalate in the mid-1960s, he transferred to Saigon, eventually becoming Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge's chief political adviser. President Richard Nixon named him acting head of the U.S. delegation to the Paris peace talks with North Vietnam from 1969 to 1971. Following that assignment, he was named Ambassador to the Republic of Korea. In 1974 he was designated Assistant Secretary of State for East Asian and Pacific Affairs. When President Gerald R. Ford named him Undersecretary of State for Political Affairs in May 1976, Habib shifted his focus from Asia to the Middle East. Remaining in that position, the diplomat played a major role in President Jimmy Carter's Camp David peace accords in 1977 between Egyptian President Anwar Sadat and Israeli Prime Minister Menahem Begin. Habib retired in 1978, following his second massive heart attack in six years. But Carter called him back soon after to a fact-finding mission in the Caribbean, and Ronald Reagan summoned him again in 1981 for the Middle East negotiation.

His colleagues in the foreign service elected him president of the Foreign Service Association in 1968. The following year he was the recipient of the Rockefeller Public Service Award, and in 1970 he was honored by the National Civil Service League. He was given the President's Award for distinguished federal service in 1979. Habib is a diplomat renowned for his sense of humor, straightforward talk and knowledge of when to use clout and when to listen. William Quandt, former chief Middle East expert of the National Security Council, says Habib "realizes that diplomacy is the art of the possible."

SANFORD NOYES MCDONNELL

When the late James S. McDonnell, "Mr. Mac," hired his nephew, Sanford N. McDonnell, to work in his nine-year old company in 1948, he suggested that "Sandy" begin as a janitor so he could say he had started at the bottom. With bachelor's degrees in economics from Princeton University and mechanical engineering from the University of Colorado, the younger McDonnell could not be quite that humble, but he did begin work as a trainee at $1.26 an hour. Six years later, he earned his master's degree in applied mechanics from Washington University and, as a design engineer, already was well on his way toward his current position as chairman, chief executive officer and director of McDonnell Douglas Corporation (MDC). He was elected to those posts in 1980 and also was named chairman of the McDonnell Douglas Foundation. McDonnell heads the world's No. 2 defense contractor, No. 2 manufacturer of jet airliners and, with 35,000 St. Louis employees, No. 1 private employer in Missouri (86,000 employees total in the United States and Canada). He also is national president of Boy Scouts of America and an elder at Ladue Chapel, a St. Louis Presbyterian church. As an outgrowth of his religious faith and his commitment to scouting, he was instrumental in the publication of "Standards of Business Ethics and Conduct" at MDC, He serves as a trustee of the Naval Aviation Museum Foundation, Inc., a director of Centerre Bancorporation and the United Way of Greater St. Louis, and a member of St. Louis' Civic Progress, Inc. In 1984, he was named the St. Louis Globe-Democrat Man of the Year. His professional memberships include the board of governors of the Aerospace Industries Association, the Air Force Association, a fellow of the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics, the American Security Council and the board of directors of the Ethics Resource Center, Inc.
DOCTOR OF LETTERS

HANNA HOBORN GRAY

Hanna Holborn Gray, president of the University of Chicago since 1978, has received national press attention for her views on higher education. Her 32-year professional academic career has taken her to Bryn Mawr, Harvard, Northwestern, Yale and Chicago. She is deeply concerned about standards in secondary education, the place of liberal arts in an increasingly technological society and the reform of Ph.D. programs. On standards, she argues that higher education itself must bear some of the responsibility for lower standards in high schools because it has reduced entry qualifications and offered too many loosely structured “cafeteria-style” degrees. On liberal arts, she insists that students with a solid liberal arts background would be best equipped to make public policy and ethical decisions on issues raised by the spread of new technology. On Ph.Ds, she was the driving force behind a recent University of Chicago report on graduate education which recommended that Ph.D students should be prepared for non-academic careers as well as those in teaching and research. She manages a 1,100-member faculty and 7,700-member student body, including 5,000 graduate students. Born in Heidelberg, Germany, she earned her bachelor's degree in 1950 from Bryn Mawr College, was a Fulbright scholar at Oxford University from 1950 to 1952, earned a Ph.D in 1957 from Harvard University and received a doctor of letters in 1979 from Oxford. A historian of the Renaissance and the Reformation, she was co-editor of the “Journal of Modern History” from 1965 to 1970. She serves on the board of directors of many institutions, including the Morgan Guaranty Trust Company, Andrew W. Mellon Foundation, Pulitzer Prize Board, Mayo Foundation and Brookings Institution. Today’s award brings her total number of honorary degrees to 25.

DOCTOR OF SCIENCE

LEONARD WATSON BLAKE

In 1965 at age 62, Leonard Watson Blake retired from his job as a security analyst in the investment department of St. Louis Union Trust Co. Retirement gave him more time for his avocation — archaeology. Today, at age 82, he is a research associate in Washington University’s Department of Anthropology, and in fair weather he rides his bike to work. As an amateur archaeologist, Blake has published 48 articles on archaeology and archaeobotany/ethnobotany — 14 as sole author. His latest, for example, was for an annual performance report on a National Endowment for the Humanities research grant. A leading St. Louis archaeologist says of Blake, “The quality of his research has made him a peer among scholars.” Blake, who holds a bachelor's degree from Williams College in Williamstown, Mass., had only a slight interest in Indian arrowheads when he discovered the Missouri Archaeological Society around 1940. Several years later, however, when he participated in a dig sponsored by the University of Missouri, his love of archaeology blossomed. Since then, Blake has donated his time and expertise to the Missouri Botanical Gardens, the Museum of Science and Natural History, the Cahokia Mounds National Register of Historic Places, the Missouri Historical Society and the University of Missouri-Columbia’s American Archaeology Division. He has been vice president and a trustee of the Missouri Archaeological Society, president of the Mound City Archaeological Society, a trustee of the Illinois Association for Advancement of Archaeology and vice-president and president of the Greater St. Louis Archaeological Society. He is a founding member of the Mound City Archaeological Society and the Illinois Association for the Advancement of Archaeology. He has trained three students at WU who have gone on for Ph.Ds in Archaeology.

Dear Alma Mater, Thy name is sweet to me.
Those days of youth which All of us spent with thee

Our hearts are all for thee Fair Washington.
Form a dear history, Fair Washington.

Thy halls shall honored be Throughout this great country
Could they renewed be, We'd live our days with thee

For all eternity, Our Washington.
For all eternity, Our Washington.
